

Breast care for women

Symptoms, Screening and Staying Healthy

Introduction

This booklet uses easy words and pictures to help you get information about cancer.

You might want someone to help you look at the booklet so you can talk about it.

There is a Word Bank at the back of the booklet to help with hard words. Any words in bold you can find in the Word Bank.

This booklet can help you learn about cancer. But this is not the same as talking to your doctor. If you are worried about your health, you should talk to a doctor or nurse.

Breast care for women

The most common cancer for women is breast cancer.

Women of any age can get breast cancer but the risk is higher when you are over 50.

Gran

Mum

Me

If your mother, aunt or sister has had breast cancer, you may be more likely to get it.

Breast care for women

Cancer is easier to treat if you find it early. You should check your breasts for any changes.

It is very important to check what your breasts feel like at different times of the month.

This is because the menstrual cycle causes changes in the breasts. It can make them bigger or more sensitive.

Breast care for women

Every woman's body is different. You should know what your breasts look and feel like normally. Then you will be able to spot any changes.

Some women have one breast larger than the other - this is OK.

It is best to look in a mirror to check your breasts. You can see if anything looks different.

Breast care for women

Check your breasts when you are somewhere private. This could be in the shower or bedroom.

How to check your breasts

Feel all over the breast.

Then feel around the nipple area.

Breast care for women

Then feel under your arms.

If you find any changes or lumps in your breasts it is very important to see your doctor as soon as you can.

You can ask to see a female doctor if you would like.

Changes to look for

Look for:

Changes in the shape of your breasts or nipples.

Lumps in your breasts or armpits.

Changes to the skin on your breasts.

Breast care for women

Look for:

Any liquid coming out of your nipples.

Breast screening

If you are aged 50 to 70 you will get a letter inviting you for breast screening. This will happen every 3 years. In some parts of England, women are invited from the age of 47 to 73.

Breast screening means having an x-ray of your breasts. This is called a mammogram. This will check if your breasts are healthy.

Breast care for women

You might have a mammogram at a:

- hospital

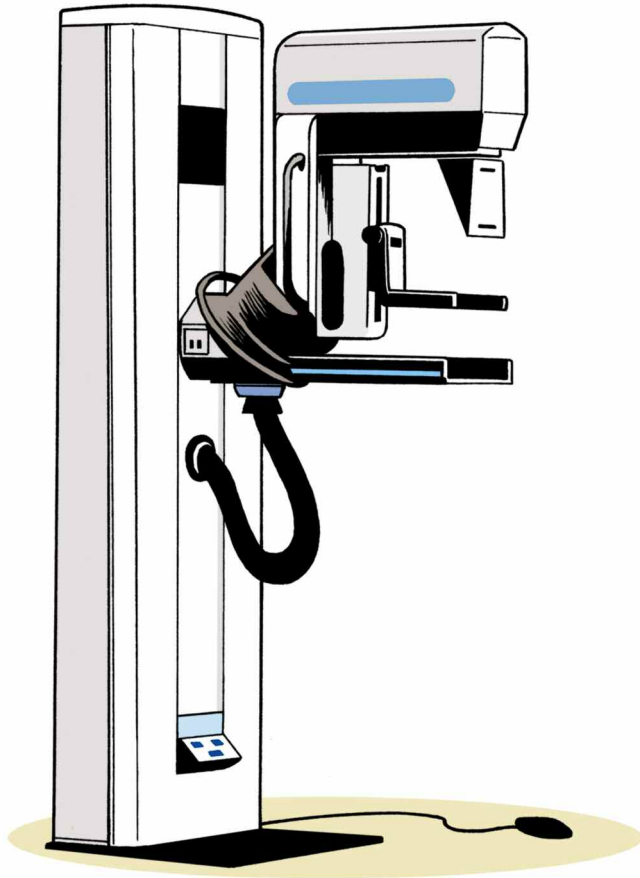

- clinic

- mobile unit

Breast care for women

This is what a breast screening machine looks like. This takes the x-ray of your breasts.

It will always be a woman doing the screening.

Breast care for women

What happens

When you arrive at the breast screening unit the nurse will tell you what a mammogram is. You can ask her questions.

The nurse will check your name, address and date of birth.

You will be asked to take your top and bra off.

Breast care for women

The nurse will put your breast between two flat plates on the machine. The plates will press against your breast to take the x-rays. The nurse will do one breast at a time.

It only takes a few minutes.

The nurse will go behind a glass screen when the x-rays are being taken.

Breast care for women

Some women find it painful or uncomfortable. This should not last long.

After you can ask the nurse how you will find out your results and when this will be.

Sometimes you may be asked to come back for another mammogram because the results are not clear. This does not always mean something is wrong.
